INTRODUCTION

Whereas, the General Assembly does not have available an up-to-date, in-depth study of the Social Services programs, and the needs of the State; and

Whereas, the Division of Social Services of the Department of Human Resources has made considerable progress in the development of the Social Services program in North Carolina, and now administers a wide range of financial assistance and service programs in the State; and

Whereas, the State cannot render to its citizens the kind of Social Services program needed or provide for citizens' needs without an in-depth study of the present services provided, the impact of the Welfare Reform proposal, and the current unmet needs of the citizens of the State.

With these words, through House Bill 907, the 1979 General Assembly established the Social Services Study Commission. (See Appendix A). Among the purposes of this Study Commission which are enumerated in the legislation are:

- (1) To define State and county responsibility in Social Services and Public Assistance Programs as they relate to:
  - a) administration
  - b) financing
  - c) relationships between State and counties
- (2) To review trends of change that have taken place in the administration and funding of Social Service and Public Assistance Programs in North Carolina as to:
  - a) impact on county departments
  - b) impact on State agency
  - c) impact on recipients
  - d) relationship changes that have taken place between State and counties.

- (3) To review the structure of human service delivery and make recommendations which would lead to a coordinated human service delivery system with its focus primarily on the family as a unit.

The Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and Speaker of the House of Representatives appointed the following persons on the Commission to make the study and report back to the General Assembly:

Senator Russell G. Walker, Co-Chairperson

Representative Patricia S. Hunt, Co-Chairperson

Senator Fred D. Alexander

Representative Leroy P. Spoon

Senator Ollie Harris

Mr. Fred D. Hauser

Senator Joe B. Raynor

Mr. Daniel C. Hudgins

Representative Bertha M. Holt

Ms. Barbara Saddler

Representative Henry E. Frye

Mrs. Linda G. White

This document is the interim report of the Commission.

The Social Services Study Commission lost the wise counsel of Senator Fred D. Alexander through death on April 13, 1979. His presence and help will be greatly missed.

BACKGROUND

The North Carolina Constitution of 1868 provided in part that "Beneficent provision for the poor, the unfortunate, and orphan, being one of the first duties of a civilized and Christian State ...". The social services program of North Carolina is based upon this mandate. Our Constitution also provides that "A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty." The Commission has attempted to keep both of these mandates foremost in our mind as we have pursued this study.

In 1917 the General Assembly provided for the basic organization of the present State Board of Public Welfare and the county departments of public welfare and for public welfare services to people throughout the State. In 1937 the General Assembly made possible this State's participation in public assistance programs under the Social Security Act. The State entered into official relationships with the federal government, along with strengthened relationships with county government. A review of legislative action indicates that since 1917 every biennial session of the General Assembly has provided new services or extended existing services or both, supporting the oft quoted statement that "public welfare reflects the conscience of the State."

Social Services in North Carolina now includes a complex array of programs designed to provide a variety of different services to people. These services include financial aid to certain categories of needy persons (like aid to families with dependent children), family and children's services (like adoption), licensing of certain institutions and organizations (like homes for the aged or child-caring institutions), protective services to children and adults under state legislation requiring reports of neglect or abuse, and medical care or services or drugs for eligible needy people. The supporting public usually associates social services with public assistance or financial aid to the needy, and the average citizen may be unaware of the many other services not related to financial aid that are provided through social services. This lack of public understanding is compounded by other factors. Categorical public assistance programs--for example, aid to families with dependent children--may be philosophically controversial, and their large cost inevitably makes them financially controversial.

It must be recognized that social services are deeply rooted in both governmental and non-governmental structures. There have been many gains over the years in legislation, in funding, in the expansion of service delivery. At the same time programs have become far more complex. There are more laws, more regulations, more potential and actual sources of funding, more complicated administrative structures.

The social services system in North Carolina is a conglomerate of private and public services, agencies and laws. To understand how the system works one must understand the intergovernmental nature of social services in this State and the nation. While providing for the public welfare is a function constitutionally granted to the states, the federal government has absorbed a large share of the financial and decision making burden for public welfare and social services program. In addition, county governments in North Carolina are the primary providers of many of the State's social services programs. The sharing of functions, financing and authorities among the three levels of governments creates much of the confusion and controversy about the social services system.

PROCEEDINGS

The Social Services Study Commission held six meetings during the course of its deliberations. Due to the complex area and tight budget with which the Commission was dealing, in its initial meetings the Commission began with an overview of what the social services structure is in North Carolina including both the Division of Social Services and the Division of Medical Assistance of the North Carolina Department of Human Resources. There is no question that the various social services programs are confusing in their details and the structures for administering these programs are equally complicated.

To focus on specific areas of concern the Commission devoted two meeting days to a public hearing. The purpose of this hearing was to listen to the needs of advocacy groups, county commissioners, day care operators and private citizens as they relate to the delivery of social services in North Carolina. (For a listing of these persons and groups see Appendix B).

The Commission had many crucial questions and concerns presented to them such as where and how policy is made in social services programs, who chooses priorities, what is the state of professional morale, and what are the present federal, state and county relationships and what should they be. In sum most of the issues presented to the Commission can be distilled to include the four following areas:

- Administration

- Financing

- Personnel

- Relationships between federal, state and local governments.

It is obvious that the Commission could address only a small number of concerns and problems relating to its charge in the short amount of time it has been in operation. Therefore, the following section will focus on those items that the Commission feels are necessary to present to the Second Session of the 1979 General Assembly.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following is a compilation of those issues which need immediate attention by the 1979 General Assembly - (Second Session):

The Commission recommended the following:

- I. BY AN ACT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY APPROPRIATE FUNDS FOR AFDC AND MEDICAID FOR PRENATAL CARE.

The provision of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and medicaid benefits to pregnant women who would otherwise be eligible after the child's birth is the Commission's top legislative priority. The Commission wants to reduce the incidence of infant mortality through providing more prenatal care. Since the federal government will pay 67.6% of the cost of these programs, the Commission feels that this is a sound investment of public funds, as well as good public policy.

The Commission also recommended that the State pay the entire non-federal portion of the costs for this program.

The legislation is included as Appendix C.

II. BY AN ACT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY APPROPRIATE FUNDS FOR EMERGENCY ASSISTANCE.

The provision of emergency assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program was also recommended by the Commission. Under this program, families with children in crisis situation who are deprived of resources would be eligible for emergency assistance. This assistance could be in the form of cash or "in-kind" services such as temporary shelter, food or clothing. The federal government will pay fifty percent of these costs. The Commission recommended that the State pay the entire non-federal share of program costs. The legislation to implement this recommendation is included as Appendix D.

III. PERMANENCY PLANNING

The Secretary of the Department of Human Resources has indicated that $750,000 of federal money will be available to fund a permanency planning program for foster children. $650,000 of this money will be distributed as aid to counties for the purpose of setting up foster care permanency placement programs in each county. The other $100,000 will be used to fund five State positions to provide technical assistance to counties in setting up their foster care programs.

A $100,000 recommendation of the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission is for a statewide foster care tracking system to keep up with all children placed in foster care and to assure that each step of their permanency placement plan is being properly implemented.

The Commission recommended the funding of an additional $171,612 needed to provide three permanency planning specialists, adoption subsidies for hard to place children, transportation for out-of-state placement and the statewide adoption clearinghouse.

The bill included as Appendix E would appropriate the additional permanency planning money.

IV. THE COMMISSION RECOMMENDS THAT BY AN ACT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY THE SOCIAL SERVICES APPEALS PROCESS BE AMENDED TO RELIEVE AN UNDUE BURDEN ON THE COUNTIES.

Section 1 allows the Social Services Commission to promulgate rules that will allow shorter notice as long as it is consistent with federal regulations.

Section 2 eliminates the requirement for a local appeals hearing when the issue involved is medical disability determination. The bill would require the State Division of Social Services to conduct such appeals and then further review would be through the court system.

Sections 3 and 4 specify the conditions when an applicant or his representative can have access to the client's files during an appeal. The statute attempts to balance the client's right to access to his or her files with the right of privacy of the client's family. This is necessary because the information for services files is maintained on a family basis. For example, it would allow the client to review all information involved in her appeal for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), but would not allow her to see reports of child abuse.

Section 5 allows the court to reconsider evidence that may have been excluded at the hearing, when the appellant petitions for judicial review of the public assistance hearing. It also makes the appeal from the agency decision more consistent with the Administrative Procedure Act.

Sections 6 and 7 ensure that the Division of Social Services will continue its current practice of informing each client of his or her right to an attorney if public assistance is denied, reduced or terminated. It is expected that the Department will ensure that, upon request, each county department of social services will furnish the address and telephone number of the nearest legal services office or the number for the lawyer referral service operated by the State Bar.

Legislation implementing these provisions is included as Appendix F.

V. REDUCE THE PROBLEMS ASSOCIATED WITH COUNTY DEPARTMENTS OF SOCIAL SERVICES BUDGETS. (See Appendices G, H and I).

The Commission found that county commissioners were encountering great difficulty in making final decisions on local social services budgets before July 1 of each year because of a lack of information on the State budget and late decisions by the General Assembly on matters affecting county budgets. The Commission explored a number of options including delaying the effective date of new legislation, State assumption of all costs for new programs passed after April 15 of each year, and early notification of counties on items in the State budgets affecting social services. After much discussion the Commission decided to recommend the amendment of G.S. 108-54 to require notification of the counties by the Department of Human Resources before February 15 of each year of the amount of State and federal monies available to that county for programs of public assistance, as well as the percentage of county participation required for the succeeding fiscal year. In odd-numbered years the Department of Human Resources will also notify the counties of any changes in public assistance programs recommended by the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission. The Commission is also recommending that the House of Representatives and the Senate adopt a permanent rule requiring that all bills affecting State and county social services be introduced before March 15 of each session year. This is similar to the cut-off on local bills that both houses of the General Assembly have adopted.

VI. APPROPRIATE ADDITIONAL FUNDS TO THE SOCIAL SERVICES STUDY COMMISSION. (See Appendix J).

The legislation establishing the Social Services Study Commission authorized $6,000 for the year 1980-81. The Commission, because of the complexity of its mission, requests an additional appropriation of $4,000 for this time period. This would raise the 1980-81 appropriation to $10,000.

VII. APPROPRIATE ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR A COMPUTERIZED ELIGIBILITY SYSTEM FOR THE DIVISION OF SOCIAL SERVICES.

The Commission recommends that the General Assembly appropriate $149,963 to fund a new, computerized eligibility system. Initially this system will be located in twenty counties. (list attached as Appendix L). These twenty counties account for about 50% of the eligibility paperwork. The total costs of the system are shown below:

Federal	$363,987
State	$149,963
County	73,125
Total	$587,075

Included in the State and federal share are funds for nine new systems development staff and all of the data entry equipment for counties. Four positions will be deleted after the new system becomes operational. The twenty initial counties have volunteered for this system. Other counties will be included later as they request to be included and as funds are available to expand the system.
